Peter is a very skilled and professional, yet very amicable project manager. He is highly respected by the whole team and always has its back. He has a thorough technical and functional understanding and keeps calm even under heavy pressure. He maximizes the generated value and keeps pushing the project forward. I highly recommend Peter as a project manager for medium to high-volume projects!

I've been working with Peter for around one year within the same team(s). At his start he took over a very complex migration project plus a new to develop SAS database. Both, the team and the customer were very frustrated for various reasons in the past and before the time Peter took his role as new project manager. Within a very short time Peter acquired all technical and functional knowledge necessary to understand the circumstances and what to do and he managed to turn the project from deeply red to yellow until it was accepted positively from the customer. He successfully gained confidence from the team, customer and the project contractors. After some time the top management realized his capabilities and assigned further projects to him. I appreciated the time working with him and can only recommend him!

Peter was a Project Manager on my team at IBM for a few years until recently. Peter is an exceptional PM with a strong technical background. Peter earned the respect of the team through through his expert collaboration, communication, planning of the project he was assigned to. Peter's expertise in Agile development, project planning and execution greatly helped our project succeed. I highly recommend Peter to any IT company searching for an experienced Development PM in Agile practices with a strong technical background.

Peter is an exceptional Project Master, SCRUM Master, and technical resource. I've had the pleasure of working with him over the last couple of years and he has always offered a valuable and actionable perspective to solving problems. With his considerable experience and natural curiosity, he would be an asset to any organization.

Peter is a true professional. During the past few years I had the opportunity to work with Peter while he acted (with great success) in the roles of IT Architect, DevOps Engineer and Project Manager. I always considered him a reliable person, from whom I learned useful things. He communicates efficiently, is always ready to help a team member and is focused on the project's objectives.

I've worked with Peter for approximately 4 years in which he's had different positions on the Solution Definition Manager team. I've known him as a team mate and eventually as my manager. I view Peter as a seasoned professional, always adding value, with great technical knowledge and instincts.

As a manager it was a pleasure working with him.
He takes over a project and single-handedly optimizes processes, effortlessly helping out wherever is needed.
He definitely knows how to talk to team members, how to foster good team spirit.

He has a great sense of humor and a great heart.

For more than one year, I collaborated and worked with Peter in agile projects. I know Peter as an experienced Scrum Master, Agile Practitioner and Project Manager who is very skillful in facilitating and maintaining effective relationships across global development teams while focusing on clients' needs and project delivery outcomes. Because of his strong technical background and deep knowledge, Peter is able to successfully communicate complex issues with people from different backgrounds and silos. He is always enthusiastic about what he does, what really makes everyone feel his positive energy and like his open communication.

I had the privilege of working with Peter for nearly 1,5 years in the business domain of sales enablement and big data analytics, specifically on the integration of two enterprise apps. He is one of the most capable managers I have worked with (having also a technical background), mastering Agile SCRUM, very responsive and easy to communicate with. Personally, I appreciated the effort and initiative he put into an integration board meant to align the schedule and scope of multiple apps, for a successful end to end flow. I definitely recommend Peter.

I worked with Peter more than three and a half years either in the same project or in cross-app projects and I can definitely say that he is the kind of guy which is always ready to guide the team, to help the team overcome any issue which might appear and also to share his knowledge. He is having a very good technical background which is helping him to understand the context's challenges, the impact on the business and to plan accordingly the measures to achieve the best results. Peter is a dedicated person, keen to learn more and more and a very good communicator. For me Peter is a good friend which I can always count on and he knows I'd be happy to be his partner in any other projects he might be involved in.

I had the pleasure to work with Peter for one and a half year on an IBM internal project. Under his lead I had the best opportunity to work on a professional development environment and to learn new and highly useful things that still helps and will help me in the future. Peter always had the right answer for any type of issues that I encountered and he was entirely dedicated to his work. As a Project Manager, Peter showed to the team with confidence, that some of the most important things a project needs to succeed are Time Management, Code Quality and Team Collaboration. Also Peter has a high skill to manage the risk and to find the best solutions to solve issues.
It was a real pleasure to work with Peter and I would definitely like to work with him again.

Peter has been my IT architect and Project manager for 4 years in total and it was always a pleasure to work with him and to report to him. I must highlight his skills to motivate people, to give them a great support and valuable feedback, to solve problems in a humane and friendly way. In his work as the software project manager he can rely on his long-time experience with software development to make clever and feasible decisions.
